

United Nations Institute for Training and Research

unitar

50
more years
of human empowerment

Documentary Film Event

“Rubber in a Rice Bowl”

A Swiss Network for International Studies Production

Tuesday, 16 September 2014 - 16:30 to 17:30

RHIN Room, International Environment House II Chemin de Balexert

7-9, 1219 Châtelaine, Geneva

Programme:

- Welcome: Francesco Pisano, Director of Research, United Nations Institute for Training and Research
- Introduction to film: Dr Bernhard Fuhrer, Director of the Swiss Network for International Studies (SNIS)
- Film “Rubber in a Rice Bowl” (35 minutes): The film shows the large-scale rubber boom in Cambodia and was realized as part of a SNIS funded project
- Discussion and questions with the film crew: Christophe Gironde (Senior Lecturer, Graduate Institute Geneva), Helena Zihel (Programme Manager, SNIS) and Reto Steffen (IT & Multimedia Manager, SNIS)

"Rubber in Rice Bowl" tells the story of Cambodian farmers in a time of rapid change. The documentary film has been produced by the Swiss Network for International Studies. The film addresses the topic of the current rubber boom and how it affects livelihoods and food security through the voices of the local population.

Limited seating – The event will be on a first come first serve basis.

SAVE THE DATE

Tuesday, 16 September, 2014 - 16:30 to 17:30

RHIN Room, International Environment House II
Chemin de Balexert 7-9, 1219 Châtelaine,
Geneva, Switzerland